Docket No.: VAS-5041DIV2
Amendment dated April 8, 2004
Responsive to Office Action of December 11, 2003

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

Claims 81-105 were pending in the application. Without agreeing with the propriety of the Examiner's rejection of the canceled claims, Applicants have canceled claims 81-102 and amended claim 103. Therefore, claims 103-105 are now pending in the application. The 5 amendments are submitted without prejudice to Applicants' ability to later claim the inventive subject matter of any invention disclosed in the application and, as such, the amendments have been made for the sole purpose of expediting the prosecution of the application.

The Examiner objected to the specification as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the following claimed subject matter: completely sintered PTFE graft and melted polymer
10 particles. As an initial matter, Applicants have canceled the objected to claims, rendering this objection moot. Further, the specification does provide support for the foregoing subject matter. See, for example, p. 13, ll. 5-12, disclosing a process for completely sintering a PTFE graft; and p. 19, ll. 19-29, which discloses heating deposited polymer particles to a temperature of  $363^{\circ} \pm 2^{\circ}\text{C}$ , which is above the melting point of PTFE. This clearly enables a person of ordinary skill in 15 the art to use melted polymer particles.

In the instant office action, the Examiner stated that claims 103-105 "would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims." Applicants have, accordingly, amended claim 103 to include in it all of the limitations of now canceled independent claim 100, the base claim on which the previous version 20 of claim 103 was dependent.

The above amendments are made pursuant to 37 CFR § 1.116(a). They introduce no new matter or new issues that would require additional searching and examination by the Examiner. As noted above, they comply with the Examiner's suggestion as to allowable claims. Section 714.12 of the MPEP provides that "[a]ny amendment that will place the case either in condition 25 for allowance or in better form for appeal may be entered."

These amendments put the application in a condition for allowance and, therefore, Applicants respectfully request entry of these "after-final" amendments.
